

Embracing the Future Together

May 22 - 24, 2020
Qualicum Beach, BC

Are you interested in learning about the “new normal” of emergency management and how we will be Embracing the Future Together? Join us for the 2020 Vancouver Island Emergency Preparedness Conference and learn about the different factors impacting the world we live in, how we can adapt and what we may expect going forward.

Who Should Attend?

Dedicated emergency management and response volunteers and staff.
Community groups and nonprofit organizations providing emergency response services. Individuals, neighbourhood groups and agencies interested in learning about emergency management. Provincial and local governments, including First Nations.

The VIEP Conference 2020 offers a unique educational and networking opportunity and is the largest gathering of emergency management staff and volunteer responders in our region. The conference brings together communities from Vancouver Island, neighbouring islands, the Sunshine Coast and isolated areas.

Over three days, participants will learn about the latest developments in emergency management best practices and discover lessons learned “in our back yard”. Educational sessions will include workshops, keynote speakers, demonstrations, a trade show and networking.
